CONTESTANTS SCOURING CITY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE CONTEST CLEAN-UP TOMORROW

Extending every energy to have a successful finish, trip and organization contestants are gathering subscription orders for the last day of the vote race tomorrow. All arrangements for the close of the contest are being concluded. The committee to conduct the official count is being selected and their names will be announced in the Saturday Bulletin.

The Count is to be open to the public and will take place in the Bulletin office on Alakea street directly after the contest closes at eight o'clock tomorrow night.

The organization contest will be very close in spite of what appears to be a substantial lead as shown in the score for St. Louis College. Standing at second and third in the organization list will be almost as hard to secure as will first place. Five or six of the trip awards will undoubtedly be decided by the final efforts of ten or twelve of the trip contestants. With the close so near and the known totals of so many contestants so similar, will cause an exciting contest end. Any prophecy made as to the final results would only be problematical, as it is absolutely unknown what the Hilo people are doing to insure the winning chances of their favorite organization candidate and of their several trip aspirants. And Maui is also still to be heard from.

It takes no stretch of imagination to show that there is still a chance for those very near to the travel line to sprint and secure one of the trips that appear now, to have been won by others. But the final count will tell the story.

Poll Votes Any Time This Week.
Contestants can poll their reserve votes at any time from now on, as the last office count has been made. The votes will not be touched by anyone after they are cast in the ballot box until taken out to be counted by the judges on Saturday night.

Saturday night at 8 o'clock the Bulletin contest will be only a matter of history and the ten trips and organization prizes offered by the paper will be distributed among the winners.

With only three days left of the Bulletin contest it will be necessary for every contestant in the race to get every available subscription, and the leaders of today may be badly surprised to find on the final day that some one who has not been creating very much of a sensation during the contest comes to the front and carries off one of the grand prizes.

HAWAIIAN AND MAORI ALIKE

Ernest Kaai Talks With Head Man In New Zealand Village With Ease.

The Maori and Hawaiian languages are so much alike that Ernest Kaai, who is traveling with his musicians in the Antipodes, recently went to a Maori village and talked with the head man, each using his own language yet understanding one another perfectly. This interesting bit of news is contained in a letter to Secretary Wood of the Hawaiian Promotion Committee.

In his report today, Secretary Wood says: "By the Nippon Maru we are sending a set of lantern slides to Miss Elizabeth Hurdaway, who is well known in Honolulu, and who can be depended upon to do good work for Hawaii throughout the Middle West. More North Island. Have met the Maori lectures are being given on Hawaii throughout the United States this summer than ever before. The Promotion Committee has furnished hundreds of slides for these lectures and has had printed a great many thousand special leaflets to be given away at the lectures, but the seed is being well sown and at small cost. The returns will be noted next winter.

"To the South, we also have lecturers whose theme is Hawaii. Ernest Kaai writes from Christchurch, New Zealand, under date of May 28 in part as follows:

"The supply of folders and Aloha buttons duly received. We are making good use of these. Up to the present time we have opened show in twenty-one towns. We have been well received. The interest shown in Hawaii surprised me. At present we are in New Zealand, having traveled from the United States to New Zealand, and who can be depended upon to do good work for Hawaii throughout the Middle West. More North Island. Have met the Maori and talked with them in our own language. They are so much like Hawaiians. We all went to a native village. The head man gave an address of welcome in Maori; I replied in Hawaiian. We understand one another perfectly."

This is one of Burbank's busiest seasons and he is working harder than ever with his experiments. As the result of his work announcement will be made before the end of the year of the successful creation of other new fruits and flowers upon which he has been working for a number of years. The plums will soon be ripening on the experimental farm near Sebastopol.

RULES FOR THE CLOSING OF BULLETIN CONTEST SATURDAY NIGHT AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

RULES FOR CONTEST CLOSE.

Eight o'clock will mark the close of the contest Saturday night. All contestants and friends in the office at that time will be waited upon. The judges will then take the ballot-box for the final count. Immediately the box is opened, the contestants and their friends may witness the last count of the ballots. The winners will be announced after the close of the count. All contestants are requested to bring someone with them to watch their interests while the count is being taken. Remember, 8 o'clock is the contest close.

Bonus Days Still Here.

The big vote days for organization candidates are over but the bonus days for both trip and organization candidates are still here. For the first time Tuesday the bonus offer of 2000 votes for every three new or three old daily yearly subscriptions turned in any single contest week was renewed. This is the only way to get votes in addition to those given on regular subscription payments. At the beginning of every week of the contest this bonus offer has been made and the large vote totals of many of the candidates today is the result of taking advantage of this offer by turning in their yearly daily subscription in such a manner that they got the extra vote. Do not hold your subscriptions until the last day or so. Turn them in as you get them and you will get the bonus credit for this week.

New Subscriptions and Old.

A number of inquiries are made daily as to the votes allowed on new and old subscriptions. Votes are allowed on both, but only when the renewals pay in advance. New subscribers means increase in circulation. Therefore no one will be allowed to change the name of the old subscriber from one member of the family to another, in order to receive more votes.

Subscribers sending in payments to the Bulletin must always mention the name of the individual trip contestant and the organization contestant, they wish to vote for, as all ballots are filled out before leaving offices. You can hold back the ballots as long as you wish. Always state whether you want the votes cast or returned to you. By making the three hundred thousand mark your goal, you have something specific to work for during the next few days and if you pass that point and are one of the first ten you will get the additional mileage credit and reward.

Contest Closes.

Saturday, June the twenty-fourth, is the time set for the close of the contest and all votes and subscriptions MUST be in the Bulletin office on that date. The closing hour will be at 8 o'clock p. m. on June 24th, and those depending on the mails to bring their subscriptions to the Bulletin office MUST have all votes and vote coupons in the ballot box before 8 o'clock p. m. on that date. The judges for the final count of the ballots will be chosen from prominent business men of Honolulu; their names will be announced in due season. All contestants will have the right to select a friend or relative to represent them and look after their interests during the final count of the ballots. Every subscription payment made on or since March 28th entitles the payer to votes for a trip contestant. Every payment made on or since April 27th entitles the payer to votes for both a trip contestant and an organization contestant. Present receipts and votes will be issued.

Don't Forget.

Remember you get two sets of votes if you pay or have paid your subscription since April 27th; one for a trip candidate, and another for an organization candidate. An equal number of votes as given in the standing vote schedule are issued for both.

Don't Forget that if a subscriber started to take the paper since the contest began and wishes to extend his subscription further they will still be considered a new subscriber until the end and votes given accordingly. All that is necessary is to mark your club "2nd payment" and give the amount of the first payment or the amount that has been paid on the subscription since the contest started. This means votes to you.

Don't forget that the contest closes at 8 o'clock Saturday, June 24, 1911, and all votes and subscriptions should be in the Bulletin office by this hour in order to count.

Don't Be Late.

The contest manager desires to impress upon the candidates the importance of having their reserves in the ballot box in plenty of time. There will undoubtedly be quite a rush the last day of the contest, and it will be to the advantage of every candidate to get his votes in the ballot box at the proper time.

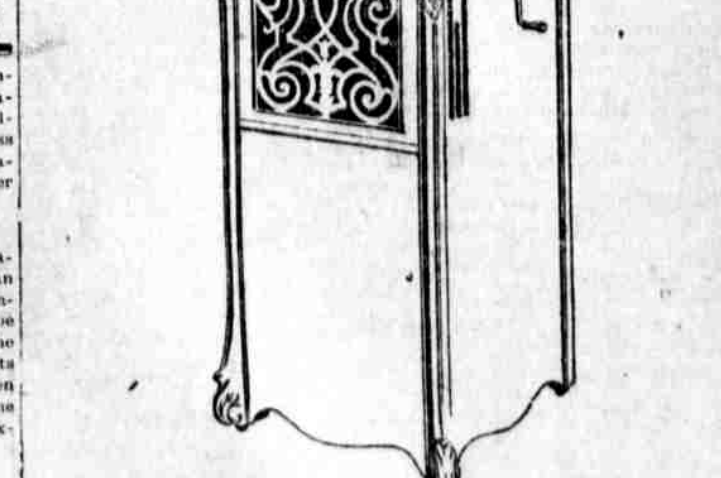

No More Paper Votes.

The vote coupons in the paper were printed for the last time on Saturday, and the only way now to help the candidates is by subscription payments. Friends who have been aiding candidates by clipping and collecting these ballots can turn their attention to artillery action and go after the big vote blocks that are given with subscription clubs.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—What Befell The Vain Mouse

Prince Beautiful

"ALL aboard for Story Land!" shouted daddy. And in less than a moment Jack and Evelyn were on his lap and all attention. "Well, you little scammers," he began, "tonight I am going to tell you about the vainest little mouse you ever heard of. He had large black eyes, a nice silky coat and cute little feet, but especially was he vain of his long tail, the longest tail that ever mouse did have. This chap's real name was Squeakie Jones, but he would have nothing to do with those who did not call him Prince Beautiful, and he wanted admiration all the time. When visitors were at his house if one said it was a nice day or that it was a shame the way the price of cheese was going up he got angry at once and told every one that if they could not talk of his pretty eyes and tall they might go home. And he was so vain that instead of helping his papa and mamma he spent most of the time admiring himself in the looking glass or brushing his long tail."

"Of course, kiddies, Prince Beautiful came to grief, just as all vain and silly people and animals do. This was the way of it: There was to be a ball in the largest and finest cellar in town, and the mice for miles around could talk of nothing else. The Prince, of course, was to be there and show off his beauty. In fact, he wanted to look so fine on this occasion that he could think of nothing else, and at last an idea struck him. He knew an old witch who lived in the woods, and one day he went to her and said:

"Madam, I have come to ask a favor. While I am the most beautiful mouse in all the world, still I want to be even more attractive. Can you not give me a magic powder to make me so? You see, I want to surprise the folks at the big ball."

"Now, children, the witch did not like Prince Beautiful. He always passed her by with his head up and paid no attention to her when she said 'How d'ye do?' Here was her chance to get even. Handing him a package, the old witch smiled and said:

"Just before entering the ballroom swallow this powder, and your appearance will give the mice something to talk about all the rest of their lives."

"Well, the silly Prince did just as he was told. All the mice were dancing and having a grand time when he reached the ball, but before joining them he swallowed the powder the witch had given him. And what a surprise it was! In an instant he was changed into a large cat with six heads, and the mice scampered, better skitter, for their holes, leaving him all alone at the ball. He wandered around for weeks trying to catch the old witch, but she had flown far away on her broomstick, and as no one would associate with a cat with six heads Prince Beautiful finally died of a broken heart, and his fate was a lesson for other mice always to remember."
